Keeping Up With Torrance High

Torrance high was represented by Elmer Munson, Horace Andrews and Myron Nightingale at the eleventh annual newspaper day held on the campus of the University of Southern California, March 18.

The convention was called to order by Quentin Reger, editor of the Daily Trojan, who introduced Orville Mohler, student president, and Marc N. Goodnow, lecturer in journalism and faculty chairman. "A Woman On General Assignments," was the topic discussed by Marjorie Driscoll, Los Angeles Examiner feature writer. Paul Zimmerman, Associated Press correspondent, told how the Long Beach earthquake was covered by a national news agency.

A tour of the campus and of the Edward L. Doheny Memorial Library, under the direction of By Liners, professional journalism fraternity, delighted the visitors, at the close of the morning session in Howard auditorium. The noon luncheon was under the direction of Prof. Roy L. French, director of the new school of journalism. He introduced Dr. R. B. von KleinSmid, president of the university, who welcomed the delegates. Harry Crocker, assistant publisher of the Los Angeles Examiner, presided over the "Journalism of the Future."

The high school representatives had no responsibility in regard to the day, but were the guests of the university, with the entire program, including a luncheon, arranged for their pleasure and benefit.

When the students of the high school assembled Monday, they learned to their surprise that Torrance high had only been damaged to the extent of a few cracks in the side walls. The fire wall on the shop is cracked so badly, however, that it may have to be torn down.

School was dismissed at 8:30 for one hour. During this time a faculty meeting was held, and instructions were given to the students in case that the school should be hit by a hard quake.

Two boys from the journalism department are working for a scholarship at the University of Southern California. These students are Elmer Munson, editor of this semester's T. N. T., and Myron Nightingale, editor last semester and now Torrance Herald editor and copy reader for the T. N. T. Inasmuch as only one student from each school can apply for the scholarship, Elmer and Myron must appear before a board of judges made up of three faculty members and Principal Walditch before either one is chosen to represent Torrance. Other students who have been active in school publications may enter the contest.

Members of the agricultural department have leased ten acres of land from the Dominguez Land Company, and are working faithfully in hopes of getting some returns from the money that they have invested.

At present the whole ten acres is under cultivation, and the students doing the work are estimating how much money their crops will bring.

At the Key Club meeting held Wednesday, Leonard Austin, director of auto mechanics and machine work, gave a very interesting talk. He discussed the fundamentals of measuring and drawing, and the actual methods of machining steels.

Mr. Austin had with him several measuring instruments and tools that he himself had made.

The next issue of the paper, according to reports from the editors of the T. N. T., is to be the spring fashion number. Several cuts will be printed and different styles will be discussed. Articles will be written by the society editors of the paper. Watch this issue, for nothing similar to it has ever come out before.

"Junie" Rogers is seriously ill with spinal meningitis at the L. A. General hospital. "Junie" is a very popular member of the student body. He has played varsity football for four years and was a member of the track teams.

The meningitis was caused as a result of an auto accident which occurred near Torrance.

Torrance high's cinder grinders lost their second meet of the season to El Segundo. The El Segundo spikers ran up 56-2-3 digits, while the Torrance outfit amassed 46-2-3 points.

Inter-class sports have actually begun under the leadership of Bob Carson and Coach Bernard Donahue. Indoor baseball started Monday with the ninth and tenth graders competing. Results of the class sports will appear regularly in this column.

* TORRANCE NOTES * Mrs. Kenneth Kimball and daughter, Ann, visited at Santa Ana and Laguna Beach last week. Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Babbitt were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Egenberger of Long Beach. Mrs. J. M. Allen and son, Roland, spent Wednesday in Long Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott spent the week-end at their ranch at Rosemont. Mrs. Emm Thompson was a guest.

County Asks For Jurisdiction Over Streets In Torrance

at Narbonne High School

To arouse more interest in junior and senior high A. S. B. assemblies at Narbonne, a new plan has been adopted. There are to be no more joint meetings of the two groups, and according to Miss Mutch, adviser of the junior assembly, this will make the programs more enjoyable for both divisions. She remarked that there is a great difference in age between a seventh grader and a senior, and that the same type of program doesn't as a rule interest both the older and the younger students. There will be only one meeting a month for each group, but the sponsors declare the meetings will be of real interest to the students. Betty Myerscough, editor of the Green and Gold, is working with her staff on the annual fun edition of the school paper, which will make its appearance, March 31. The journalism class has its annual fling at yellow journalism with its "Gabby and Goofy," which usually proves one of the most popular and looked-forward-to editions. Call 444 for Ad Service
